

Truth:

It is impossible for vaccines to track people.

Myth: Vaccines contain microchips that can track people.

Explanation

Absolutely no vaccines – including the vaccines against COVID-19 – contain any microchips, including ones that would let governments or any other entities in power track people.

Remember: Vaccines are developed and used to keep people healthy, not to track them.

PAHO

Pan American Health Organization

World Health Organization
Americas Region